The Dwarves

You left a shoe at the Palace and now a Prince is trying to hunt you down.

You fell asleep and now your landscaping is a mess. It has to be cleaned up before everyone comes over for your wedding.

A flyboy shows up and transports you via air travel to a new world. The boys there don't like you much and the big bully is out to get your friends. How do you help everyone band together to make this a land you never want to leave?

You met a new friend and they're really into you, but you're not that into them. Now they won't let you leave their place. How do you free yourself from his/her grasp?

Out for a walk one day, you fell down a hole and now don't know where you are. You need to avoid danger and figure out a way to get home.

You ate a bad apple, you fell asleep and now you are stuck with some unwanted house guests. You need to give them the boot before they drive you crazy.

Your stepmom is planning on getting rid of you so you and your sibling decide to go off on your own. You find this really nice lady living in an awesome house who invites you in. Could this be the solution to your dilemma?

You've traded away your family's prized possession for what your mother says, "Doesn't amount to beans." You need to show her you made the right decision and win the day for your family.

On your way to your grandmother's house, you discovered that someone was following you. How will you escape from your stalker?

Your overprotective mother has forced you to stay at home. She's worried that bad things will happen to you if you go out with your friends. You need to convince your mom to let you have some freedom.

Someone keeps breaking into your house, stealing your food and breaking your stuff. You need to uncover the culprit before they do any more damage.
